Dear Alumnae & Friends:

Pozdrav!

Along the eastern coast of the Adriatic Sea, splendid fortified walled cities, unspoiled picture-perfect islands and pristine blue waters beckon visitors to explore the stunning region of Dalmatia. A virtual crossroads of Roman, Byzantine, Venetian and Slavic cultures and civilizations, this storied land has remained virtually unchanged for more than two thousand years.

We invite you to join alumnae, family, and friends for Coastal Life™ along the Adriatic Sea, a one-of-a-kind, small ship cruise from legendary Venice. Sail aboard the M.S. L’Austral. Dock in ports of call in Croatia, some of which are unavailable to larger ships, including Sibenik, Split, Korčula, Dubrovnik, Hvar, Pula and Rovinj, as well as Kotor in Montenegro.

Among the many Cultural Enrichments you will enjoy on this program is the exclusive Village Forum™, where Puljani (residents of Pula) will share with you their personal insights about past and contemporary life in the ancient Roman colony. To further enhance your understanding of the rich history, deep-rooted cultures and magnificent artistic legacy of Venice and the Dalmatian Coast, our program will include expert lectures and opportunities to taste local wines and listen to traditional folk music. Travelers will have the chance to learn simple Croatian phrases and their pronunciation; even using a few will make your interaction with the citizens at a local market that much more enjoyable! By exclusive arrangement, a leading expert will describe restoration efforts in Dubrovnik.

This exceptional value includes all accommodations, meals and excursions—and you will unpack only once! Travel in the company of alumnae, friends and participants from our cosponsoring organizations on this unique exploration of the Dalmatian Coast. We encourage you to book now, as past offerings have been quick sell-outs.

Doviđenja!

As always,

By special arrangement, Professor Vjekoslav Vierda of the University of Dubrovnik and former director of the Institute for the Restoration of Dubrovnik, will lecture on the efforts to restore Dubrovnik’s historic monuments that were destroyed during the Serbo-Croatian War (1991-1992). Throughout the program, prominent faculty will accompany you exclusively and discuss historical, cultural and contemporary Dalmatia. ♦ Sample famous Grk and Plavac Croatian wine and local food specialties.

♦ Enjoy time on your own—stroll the seaside promenade in Split and discover the scent of lavender in Hvar. And, be sure to look for Istrian white truffles in Pula’s market.

Seventeen centuries ago, Roman galleons anchored in the scenic harbor of Split, later a center of commerce and culture under Byzantine and Venetian rule. Inset Above: Dalmatia’s Coat of Arms originated in the 14th century.

Šibenik, Croatia (Trogir)

Along the eastern Adriatic coast, at the mouth of the Krka River, lies the lively town of Šibenik. Narrow cobblestoned streets are lined with Renaissance architectural sites highlighted by the striking 15th-century Cathedral of St. James, a UNESCO World Heritage site built entirely of local stone over the course of two centuries. Trogir, a UNESCO World Heritage site located on a small island, is a virtual open-air museum. The Cathedral of St. Lawrence is the town’s architectural and artistic highlight, featuring exquisite 13th-century carvings.

Split

Split gained renown in A.D. 305 when the Roman Emperor Diocletian built a vast retirement palace for himself there. Today, the historic city center, a UNESCO World Heritage site, teems with life in the very foundations and structures of Diocletian’s Palace. Here, the unique vision of Ivan Me`strovi’c, Croatia’s most accomplished sculptor, is on display at the Mestrovíć Gallery built by the artist as his summer home in the 1930s.

Korčula

The original 13th-century city walls of Korčula, surround unique herringbone-patterned streets and many historical and artistic treasures: the Abbey Treasury, home to a priceless collection of medieval manuscripts, artwork and historic Artifacts; the house where Marco Polo is said to have been born; and masterful works by Titian, housed in the 15th-century Cathedral of St. Mark.

Cultural Enrichment: Travel into the countryside for a visit to a winery in Lumbarda. Taste Grk and Plavac and sample local foods.

Cultural Enrichment: Enjoy a traditional Croatian klapa performance on board the ship.

Kotor, Montenegro (Cetinje and Budva)

Montenegro is one of the newest nations in the world, having gained its independence from Serbia in 2006. The spectacular Bay of Kotor, deeply carved into the Montenegrin mountains, leads to the charming town of Kotor, a UNESCO World Heritage site known for its Venetian baroque old town and impressive medieval fortifications.

Through the mountains along serpentine roads lie the unforgettable picturesque towns of Cetinje, honorary cultural capital of this emerging nation, and Budva, one of the oldest settlements along the Adriatic coast.

Dubrovnik, Croatia

Affectionately called “the pearl of the Adriatic” the entire city of Dubrovnik has been named a UNESCO World Heritage site in recognition of its incomparable beauty and historic treasures and is one of UNESCO’s largest restoration projects. The city’s most famous landmarks include the Franciscan Monastery, the 15th-century Rector’s Palace, well-preserved old city walls, and the Maritime Museum, which chronicles Dubrovnik’s long and fascinating history as one of Europe’s most storied ports.

Cultural Enrichment: Attend the exclusive presentation by a prominent University of Dubrovnik professor on the restoration of the city’s historic monuments.

Hvar

Since the fourth century B.C., Sicilians, Romans, Byzantines, Croatians and Venetians have all left their mark on Hvar’s history and architecture. The 15th-century Franciscan Monastery and the nearby Church of Our Lady of Charity house artwork showcasing the city’s dual Slavic and Italian heritages. And, within the old town are impressive landmarks such as the Renaissance Cathedral of St. Stephen with its Italianate bell tower, and the Benedictine Monastery, well known for its nuns’ unique lace hand-crafted from agave fibers.

Pula

Pula’s pride rests in its wide array of Roman monuments, most impressive of which is the magnificent Arena, erected in 27 B.C. After Rome’s Colosseum, it is arguably the finest and most intact Roman amphitheater in the world. Michelangelo and Piranesi took inspiration from the nearby Triumphal Arch of the Sergii, distinguished by its coffered archways and winged Victory statues. The Temple of Augustus, still intact after 2,000 years, displays a beautiful collection of friezes.

Cultural Enrichment: Become acquainted with two generations of a Puljani family during the specially arranged Village Forum™.

Rovinj

Diminutive houses lean together over the labyrinthine streets of Rovinj’s old town, and traces of the Middle Ages can be seen in the ancient fortified town walls. The early 18th-century St. Euphemia Church is home to the saint’s stone sarcophagus, which legend says mysteriously washed ashore in the year 800 after its disappearance from Constantinople.

Venice Pre-Cruise Option

DUBROVNIK: ARCHITECTURAL LEGACY PRESERVED

From its beginnings in the seventh century, Dubrovnik has proven its resilience as one of the foremost architectural gems on the Adriatic Sea. For nearly 450 years (1358 to 1806), Dubrovnik remained the only independent city along the Dalmatian Coast, while neighboring cities were conquered by the Hungarians, Venetians, Hapsburgs and French. Due to this period of independence, the city’s historic quarters, which were mostly built in the 15th and 16th centuries, remained an intact and impressive representation of a medieval city that once rivaled Venice in art, wealth and naval capabilities. Designated a World Heritage site by UNESCO, Dubrovnik’s magnificent Old City has been restored following the earthquake of 1979 and the Serbo-Croatian War of 1991-1992 as a result of one of the world’s most comprehensive restoration projects coordinated by UNESCO and the Institute for the Restoration of Dubrovnik. By special arrangement, the Institute’s former director, Professor Vjekoslav Vierda, who has worked on a wide range of restoration projects in Dubrovnik over the past 25 years, will share his insights into this truly amazing undertaking and address future challenges facing Dubrovnik and other cities committed to preserving their architectural legacy.
